

We Can't Let Our Trees Do All the Work

Removing carbon dioxide (CO₂) from our atmosphere is crucial to combatting climate change. Our trees and plants are helping with their natural ability to sequester carbon.

Much more needs to be done to help reach carbon-neutrality.

The heating oil industry has a solution now—renewable biodiesel blended in home heating oil.

Learn more at MyBioheat.com.

Sponsored by the Massachusetts Energy Marketers Association and the National Oilheat Research Alliance.

M|E|M|A
MASSACHUSETTS ENERGY MARKETERS ASSOCIATION